SEPTEMBER.

O golden autumn morn! thy balmy breath
Comes freighted from the fields of ripened grain,
Laden with sweets to steal away my pain,
With whispered anthems for the summer's death.

There is a breathless stillness all around:
A rare and wondrous silence, such as waits
Some new born angel by those pearly gates,
Where streets of gold and bowers of bliss are found.

The great waves of the grand old ocean swell,
With a hushed murmuring against the shore;
And in my heart a peace unknown before
Thrills me with joy, whose depths I may not tell.

The light winds playing along the waving fields,
And the tall grasses bend to meet it there;
And I am happy! far-gone all my care—
My soul to Heaven its grateful homage yields.

A VISIT TO THE OIL REGIONS.

OIL CITY.

This place four years ago consisted of two or three inferior public houses, the proprietors of which gained a precarious subsistence from the numerous lumbermen who usually made this point a stopping place in their transit with lumber rafts down the Allegheny river to Pittsburgh and Cincinnati.

It is now, however a "city," containing upward of 1,000 inhabitants; the dwellings, stores, and hotels being located on a single narrow street, situated between the Allegheny river and a high precipitous ridge, which bounds the city on the south, there being barely room enough between the ridge and the river for the street in question. It derives its present importance from the fact that it is the main point or outlet from which is shipped, by means of flat-boats and other contrivances, nearly all the rock oil which finds its way to Pittsburgh and the Western cities, and its population is now made up of traders, oil speculators, adventurers, boatmen, teamsters and all the other odds and ends, which are naturally drawn to a place where excitement runs high, and fortunes are made by a lucky click of the drill.

THE SUPPLY OF OIL.

It is of course difficult to determine with accuracy the present per-diem yield of oil. Some days the flowing wells give forth a greater quantity than on others, and it is also found that there is a gradual subsidence of the flow, after a run of some months. The localities of the celebrated wells are designated by the names of the original farm owners. Thus we have the wells on "the Blood farm," "the McClintock farm," "the Tarr farm," "the Story farm," &c., &c., the original owners leasing well plots, usually about ten rods square and taking their rental in a certain per centage of the oil obtained, usually one-half of the yeild.

Some of these farms have located on them from one to two hundred wells, some wells yielding five, seven and ten hundred barrels per day, and others yielding all the way down to a single barrel. There is a flowing well on the Story farm which now yields, on an average, one thousand barrels per day; and that has been going on for several months, and the yield, as yet, has but slightly diminished.

Oil is now worth, in its crude state, about six dollars per barrel, and it is easy to perceive the immense income which the land owner, and the lucky lessee, is in daily receipt of from this well alone.

I was told that the owner of an eighth interest in a single flowing well had recently been offered $110,000 for his quit claim, which he declined to take. Some wells now yield $5,000 worth of oil every 24 hours, and when you take this almost fabulous statement into consideration, it is not a wonder that everybody in the oil regions has "oil on the brain," and talks, thinks and dreams of nothing but oil, flowing wells and immense piles of greenbacks. I asked several gentlemen who have been "operators" since the excitement commenced, what they regarded as the present per-diem yield of all the wells on the creek, and I received a general answer, "Not less than 10,000 bbls. are collected every 24 hours." It must not be supposed, however, that all the wells yield an income; sometimes the labor of months ends in hopeless disappointment, and sometimes the yield fails to cover the working expenses. But with all these drawbacks, rock oil, in all its conditions, is a new element of immense wealth, and is developing many industrial pursuits which will be of lasting benefit to the country. The steam engine manufacturer, the driller, the barrel manufacturer, the teamster, the boatman, and many others besides the farmer, share in this mine of distributive blessing.

CORRY.

It is the distributing point of the oil region. Two years ago the spot where Corry now stands was a dense, almost impenetrable wilderness. Rough and rugged roads led from its few dwellings into outer civilization, and, though it lay between Erie and Warren, it was one of the obstacles in the way, and travellers were fain to go round by other routes. It is the foundation and formation of a city. The Atlantic and Great Western, whose broad gauge already extends from New York to Akron, Ohio, and bids fair to sweep on to St. Louis and the Pacific, and the Sunbury and Erie, now under the absorbing control of the Pennsylvania Central, cross and clasp hands here. "Corry" is situated on a high table land, the highest, it is said, east of the Mississippi, and it is marvellous to see how a few years have let the light into the forest, and opened up the way to an athletic civilization. Already these giant roads are stretching their iron arms to the West. [By the way, it is becoming a great, and will soon be a greater question, how all these wide-reaching thoroughfares are hereafter to be controlled; for I can see the day, not so far distant either, when, under the guidance of a few able men, they will be able to realize and carry out all that was feared of the Bank of the United States.]

Corry is the product of the oil discovery in Venango county; but the man who founded it and fostered it is a Yankee—let menotice his name in full, Samuel Downer. He is one of the best types of a New England man. He was a rare study to me, and his history is almost a romance. For twelve years associated with a Boston firm in extracting oil from coal, he has devoted the best years of his life to this pursuit. His agents have traversed Europe and the Indies for information. More than once ruined, he supposed he had at last discovered the "great secret," when Providence interposed, and the oil from the bowels of the earth began to spout forth, and he was again ruined. But as if "pleased with ruin," he at once removed his establishment here, and is now at last in a fair way to the fame and fortune he has so well earned. Learned, eccentric, nervous and energetic, he has put his whole soul into the enterprise. He is the benefactor of the neighborhood. A profound and passionate Republican, he is at the same time a practical philanthropist.

Poh! you men of party who sneer at Yankees, when will you learn how to appreciate the Yankee race? They are, in fact, the great civilizers. They may not be as sensual or as lavish as the Southerners, but they have been among the first to adventure life and fortune in every great enterprise. Downer is, I should suppose, a man of fifty. He has invested nearly two hundred thousand dollars in Corry and the works round about, and I could see, as well in the capabilities of the place, and in his own unsleeping energies, that even if the oil fails to well up from the earth, he will be ready for the change, and adapt himself to new circumstances. All that I saw reminded me of what I had heard of California. The value of the oil transported from this point alone is estimated at sixty thousand dollars a day. Men who, one year ago, were bankrupts, and some of them almost beggars, are now realizing from one to three thousand dollars per diem—and these are net profits.

The process of extracting the raw material, once you get a good well, is cheap and simple, and the supply seems to be inexhaustible. A great change has naturally come over the whole of this border. Everybody goes into the oil trade. The New Bedford whalers have given up their hazardous toils on the treacherous sea, and are getting good wages, or making large fortunes here. Four thousand wagons are daily engaged in the transportation of the precious liquid to the different points of departure. The barrel trade is alone a source of enormous profit. The population of Titusville, Crawford county, has increased in one year, from four hundred to four thousand, and Oil City, the great centre of the "flowing wells," is already a rough and vigorous borough, never before known on the maps.

It is most difficult to obtain laborers, for where wealth is so easy to obtain, every man expects to be a millionaire. And yet, strange to say, the pioneer of this wonderful development, the man who first bored deep enough into the bowels of the earth to cause the oil to burst forth in countless gallons, Mr. Drake, of Connecticut, is now a poor man at Titusville, living upon the proceeds of the office of Justice of the Peace, while those who came after him are making incredible fortunes. Mr. Downer's great works, marvels of Yankee daring and skill, marvels of science and trophies of his successful investigations, are most extensive and perfect; and I was not surprised to see that while reaping a fair reward for his own great sacrifices and energy, he did not forget Drake.

THE LIBBY PRISON.—An inmate of Libby prison writes, on the 8th of August, that 520 of our officers and soldiers are quartered there, and that they are as well and comfortable as could be expected under the circumstances.

A boy named James McCarty, sixteen years of age, was arrested in Charlestown, Mass., a few days since, for cruelty to a dog, in saturating him with kerosene oil, which was set on fire, causing the dog to run at a fearful rate in a sheet of flame, from the effect of which he he died.

A QUESTION OF HISTORY.—The London Saturday Review remarks, in its contemptuous way, that "the people of the United States have hitherto scarcely had a history." Granting that the Review is right, it must at least admit that we have made, nevertheless, in 1777 and in 1812 some contributions to the history of England which tories do not find much pleasure in remembering.

THE LATE FROST IN INDIANA.—The recent frost in Indiana does not appear to have done as much harm as first supposed, Tobacco, potatoes and sorghum are mentioned as looking better than was expected, and corn is rated in many badly frozen places at a "half crop." Some mischief has been done by wind and hail, but not enough to effect the good done by the accompanying rains.

WELL ANSWERED.—The Nashville Union replying to a contemptuous remark of a copperhead paper that "Sambo is getting to be of great importance in these latter days," says: "The negro has been of great importance for more than a generation. He has enabled a few aristocrats to rule the nation. He has given the cotton States all their importance. He has caused one foreign and one civil war already, and has become at last 'the chief corner-stone of the Southern Confederacy.' Who will deny 'Sambo's importance?'"

M. Theodore Sertais, a clockmaker at Liseux, has submitted to the Emperor Napoleon a new electric telegraph, offering many advanlages. By it messages can be transmitted by the sender in the absence of any receiver. The symbols—traced on paper—are vissible immediately, and the clerk can signal errors without loss of time. The Morse instruments, it is said, can be adapted to the new system.

A NOVEL RACE.—A race between a steam carriage and some horses at the Vermont State Fair, on Friday, resulted in favor of the horses. The machine is a curiosity. It cost two thousand dollars, is two-horse power, and weighs five hundred pounds. A hodful of coal will make steam enough to propel the carriage twenty-five miles, making the expense of running it less than a cent a mile. It can go up or down any hill a horse can, but it cannot make time any where but on a straight course.

FORGERIES AT SYRACUSE.—Forgeries to the amount of several thousands of dollars have come to light at Syracuse, the forger being a young lawyer named Grove L. Johnson, who has disappeared. The money he obtained at the banks, and has lost it all, in addition to six thousand dollars of his wife's property, in gambling. Johnson is spoken of as a man of fine talents, and much respected. He was one of the School Commissioners of the city, and an active politician. He leaves behind him, entirely destitute, a wife and two infant children. The police are on his track.

READY FOR SEA.—A private letter received at Washington from the consul at Liverpool, says one of the new rams is ready for sea, and expresses the dreaded opinion that the British government will take no steps to prevent her from sailing. There are those who consider Mr. Dudley's views, regarding the course of Great Britain, as more entitled to credence than the opposite ones, which Mr. Adams had frequently reiterated, and who apprehended open war as the inevitable result of the secret hostilities to the country practised by England.

HOW DOCTORS DISAGREE.—The Daily News thinks that the "democratic" reverse in Maine is owing to the fact that the party did not take a sufficient advanced position on the "peace" question. They were really for peace, but the "cautious managers" who had axes to grind did not permit the party to speak out as explicitly as they should have done.

On the other hand, the World says that the reason why the party was defeated in Maine, lies in the fact that they nominated a "peace" democrat and insisted on a "peace" policy. Our own opinion is, that they were defeated for the want of votes, and would have been on any opposition ticket.

The Crisis in Northwestern Georgia.

The great battle, says the Cincinnati Commercial, announced in our last issue as impending between Gen. Rosecrans' army and Bragg's forces, swelled to numerical superiority by General Joe Johnston's army from Alabama, and Longstreet's corps from Virginia, took place on Saturday.

According to previous reports the enemy were issuing from the Gaps of the Pigeon Mountains, along the base of which our line extended, on Thursday or Friday, to feel our position and get ready for an attack. On Friday afternoon General Rosecrans discovered that they were bent upon their old game of throwing their whole offensive power upon a part of our line, and forcing it with overpowering numbers. His left (Crittenden's corps) being manifestly the part aimed at, he disposed his army accordingly, by strengthening the three divisions (Wood's, Van Cleve's, and Palmer's,) oomposing it, with the whole of Thomas' corps, (Rossean's, Reynold's, Brannen's and Negley's) and Davis' division of M'Cook's corps.

The enemy's first blow was directed against that part of our centre formed by Davis' division. The latter at first yielded under it, but recovered and repelled the assailing columns. The enemy next tried our left, and succeeded in forcing back Palmer's and Van Cleve's divisions in disorder. But they likewise rallied in the course of the day, and regained their original position. About dark, the main rebel strength was turned upon our right, but McCook also resisted the closing attack successfully.

The contest continued with incessant fury, from 11 a. m. until long after dark. It is evident that it was of a stubborn and sanguinary character, and resulted in a drawn battle. Our troops held the ground, while in captures they seem to have rather the advantage, having taken many hundred prisoners and ten pieces of artillery to seven lost. A renewal of the conflict appeared unavoidable, but, up to the time of writing, the telegraph has brought us no intelligence of another struggle. The rebels, having concentrated all their available forces for a great stroke against the Army of the Cumberland, and having everything at stake, will make another desperate effort, beyond doubt. May it prove as unsuccessful as the first.

Who are the Agitators?

EDS. COMMERCIAL.—I very respectfully call your attention to the following extract from Judge Woodward's speech, and desire you to compare it with an extract from a letter written by Mr. Clay, and point out the difference if you can. I would also like to know if you indorse the sentiment of Mr. Clay, and further if it is not the agitation of the slavery question creating all the division in the North. I will first give you Judge Woodward's sentiments, "Constitutional Union, and Liberty according to American law; or else extinction of slave property, negro freedom, dissolution of the Union, and anarchy and confusion."

Now for Harry of the West. "The agitation of the slavery question in the free States will destroy all harmony and finally lead to Disunion—Perpetual war—the extinction of the African race—ultimate military despotism." I hope you will reply to this communication through your columns, a failure to do so will be proof positive and conclusive that you are afraid of its damaging the prospects of your party in this county or that you are unable to do so.

CONSISTENCY.

Our position in times past has been a Whig of the Henry Clay school. We do not know his, but from his note, assume that he is of the straightest sect of the Democracy known as Copperheads. Now, the right bower of that school is to call everybody by the odious name of abolitionist who does not believe with Judge Woodward that "human bondage is divinely sanctioned, if not divinely ordained." Without entering into any philosophical disquisition on this subject, we shall, from the Henry Clay stand-point, maintain that the pro-slavery Democracy are entirely responsible for the agitation of this slavery question. Mr. Clay, with thousands of conservative men, believed, as the extract from his letter, written some thirteen years ago, says. Hence his compromise bills of 1850, and the acquiescence of both the Whig and Democratic conventions of 1852 in that policy. Had not death removed Henry Clay from the Senate Chamber, the revival of the slavery discussion by the opening of that Pandora's box, the repeal of the Missouri Compromise, would never have taken place. We therefore charge that upon the head of George W. Woodward and his allies, who repealed the Missouri compromise in 1854, rests the entire responsibility of the slavery agitation of the last ten years. Admit, if you please, that all the evils and ten fold more than George W. Woodward paints in his speech of December 13th, 1860, are true, on the head of his political associates let them rest. When nine-tenths of the citizens of this country tired, as Mr. Clay said of this constant agitation, have agreed to be quiet, a few pro-slavery Democrats, in the hope of securing to slavery the virgin soil of Kansas, Nebraska, Oregon, New Mexico, &c., reopened the whole question. Such a verification of the maxim, "Whom the Gods would destroy they first make mad," the world has never seen. The repeal of the Missouri Compromise was overruled by Providence to call into existence the Republican party. The success of that party in November, 1860, induced the same pro-slavery leaders to inaugurate secession in December and January, 1860-61, and the firing upon Fort Sumter in April. The repeal of the Missouri Compromise and the breaking out of this accursed rebellion, the doings of the allies and associates of George W. Woodward have been by Divine Providence overruled to be the death knell of human slavery. The hand of the Almighty is in this thing. He uses the Democratic politicians of the nineteenth century just as he used the Philistines and the Babylonians of a former age, to punish his chosen people of old.

Now, Mr. Consistency, are you answered. You take no notice of ten years difference between the date of Henry Clay's letter and George W. Woodward's speech. You make no allowance that Henry Clay was a patriot, and George W. Woodward more than half a traitor, when he urged the Southern States to secede in December, 1860. George W. Woodward, early in 1861, declared in the presence of John M. Broomall, William Darlington and Pennypacker that he wanted Pennsylvania to secede and join the Southern Confederacy. His sympathies have been with Jeff. Davis from that day to this. If G. W. Woodward had been writing in confidence to Jeff. Davis three weeks later than his speech, he would have fully endorsed the following sentiments of his friend ex-President Pierce, written January 6, 1860:

"Without discussing the question of right—of abstract power to secede—I have never believed that actual disruption of the Union can occur without blood; and if through the madness of Northern Abolitionists that dire calamity must come, the fighting will not be along Mason and Dixon's line merely. It will be within our own borders, in our own streets, between the two classes of citizens to whom I have referred. Those who defy law and scout constitutional obligations, will, if we ever reach the arbitrament of arms, find occupation enough at home.

Ever and truly your friend,
FRANKLIN PIERCE.
Hon. JEFF. DAVIS, Washington, D. C."

THE Post is laboring hard to disprove the fact that Governor Curtin is the soldier's friend. It is an up hill business, and we think their time might be more profitably employed. If the Governor does not merit this title, why is it we find Col. R. Riddle Roberts, a life long Democrat, advocating his re-election—imploring, with tongue of eloquence, every citizen who has any love for the integrity and honor of the old Keystone State, to lay aside party prejudices, and give their suffrage to the man for the times, Andrew G. Curtin. Surely the Post will not accuse their old friend, as they have other Democrats, of having forsaken and abandoned his party for mere personal thrift. No, they cannot, for their conscience and knowledge of the purity of his motives will not permit it. Col. Roberts' experience as a soldier, his association with the Governor, as his aid, his observations as Military Agent for the State, has afforded him full opportunity to see and judge of Curtin's qualification as an executive officer. He could not resist noticing with pleasure and delight, the Governor's disinterested affection for the soldiers, who had gone out from Pennsylvania, and the ever watchful care he exercised in their behalf. Curtin's pure, patriotic devotion to the interests and welfare of the soldiers, and his noble love of country, forced conviction on his mind, and with this knowledge he concluded it would be more than sacrilege to support Woodward against Curtin. Hundreds of other soldiers—Democrats too—men who love country more than party—who are determined to live and act no longer as slaves to an oligarchy, founded on the blood of slaves, and who admire the course pursued by Curtin since the war commenced, and remember his kindness towards them—have publicly declared their intention of supporting him, and Agnew, the eminent jurist, against such parties as Woodward and Lowrie, their avowed enemies, and the openly acknowledged friends of Southern traitors. Does this look as if Governor Curtin was not the soldiers' friend? Does this show that the soldiers' faith in him has been lost, or their confidence in the least shaken? Not at all; they are satisfied—gratified with the manner in which he discharges the high trusts and duties imposed on him; and having tried and found him true as steel, they will rally round his standard at the election, and then let copperheads and traitors of all kinds and descriptions "beware of the day when the soldiers shall meet them in battle array."

FREE LABOR IN LOUISIANA.—The system of free labor adopted by the planters in Louisiana is said to work very favorably. The New Orleans Delta says one year will show a wonderful change in the condition of affairs on the banks of the Mississippi. In those sections where there have been no interruptions from guerrillas, the negroes have performed wonders in bringing forward the crops. In many cases a crop of cotton has been secured of a good average yield per acre, in addition to sugar and corn, enough to nearly pay the expenses of the plantation. Not the slightest difficulty has been experienced in getting plenty of hands, and they are easily stimulated to work faithfully without applying corporeal punishment. The Era thinks more energy and more profitable result will attend the new system.

For every real, actual dollar that the rebel government spends, it goes in debt sixteen. Now when we consider what a vast number of real, actual dollars it must spend in carrying on such a war as this, we may perhaps form some conception of the horrible debt it is incurring.

FROM PHILADELPHIA.

From our Own Correspondent.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 20th, 1863.

Editors Commercial:—There has been a very extensive stir in politics here during the past week. The Curtin men have held a number of enthusiastic ward meetings. The Democracy had a very large attempt at display on Friday evening. The noticeable feature of the occasion was the fact that no prominent speakers were present. I mean by that none of the large guns of the party. All the speakers at this Copperhead demonstration in Independence Square, were young men or men of no distinction in their party. This indicates a most wonderful degree of apathy or indifference on part of the leaders.

Ingersoll, Wharton, Reed, and all that ilk, wrote letters defining their position, (as if that was at all doubtful,) but none were present to speak; what does this mean? We here interpret it that the young Democracy are about to rebel against their leaders of the "Copperhead" order—the peace-at-any-sacrifice-party. In other words they have cast off or are attempting to cast off the platform fastened upon them by these men—the platform by which they lost Maine and California. But this attempt at revolt is too late; the October election is too near at hand for them all not to be bound to submit to the "old man of the sea," who is already seated upon his shoulders. They will, therefore, notwithstanding their present restiveness, go under, and Wharton, Ingersoll, Reed & Co.—the old Breckinridge leaders of 1860, retain the control of the party machinery; hence every day will increase Curtin's majority in this city.

Two hundred convalescent soldiers, embracing members of over thirty regiments, are out in a card to-day in the Sunday Dispatch, appealing to the people to vote for "our Andy." These men are in different hospitals in this city. Thousands more manifested a decided disposition to do the same thing. They say Curtin has acted toward them more like a brother than a stranger, and they feel and know that the interests and hopes of the country and army are safe in his hands, and they want no politically inexperienced and untried man to take the place of an old and well tried public servant.

Curtin's popularity is on the increase hour by hour. Even Col. Murphy, late of the 29th Pennsylvania, one of the heroes of Shields and Banks' celebrated Winchester fights, openly announces his determination to vote for Curtin; and he a life long Democrat. His two sons, vetrans of a dozen fights, are of the same opinion. The Colonel is ardent and active in the matter. The war Democracy are all with us, except the over virtuous Daniel Dougherty, and he will not vote at all. Daniel has not room enough to stand on Pennsylvania soil. He aspires, like the Colossus, to bestride a continent, or a very narrow harbor. But let him pass. All who have thus far followed his lead are still with us. Those who have once traveled part of the highway to freedom and honor rarely go back on over nice scruples of conscience or from excessive delicacy. Daniel's nerves are, however, very highly strung.

On last Friday night there was a serenade to Gen. Butler, who was on his way to the interior to say a right word at the right time for Gov. Curtin. It was given at the Continental, and was exceedingly well received. After his speech, the chairman of the State Committee, Wayne M'Veagh, Esq., also addressed the meeting. It was concluded by your fellow townsman, T. J. Bigham, whose speech was brief, pointed and telling. I have heard him both in the Legislature and upon the stump, and have never heard him cleverer or abler. I believe he received more applause during the body of his speech than Butler himself.

Gov. Curtin, Shannon and McClure have been campaigning the Lehigh Valley, right in the very heart of "Copperheadism," and have spoken to very large audiences with the greatest demonstrations of acceptability on part of the people. Nearly all our prominent speakers in this city are daily out in the neighboring and midland counties. No canvass of the eastern part of the State was ever more thorough and effective than this will be. So certain are our people of success that none if any, of our home orators of distinction remain here for "speechifying." Wm. B. Mann, our District Attorney, and one of our shrewdest home politicians, claims 7,000 majority for Curtin here. That is, however, 2,000 beyond my largest margin. I merely allude to it to show that I am far more moderate in my estimates than some of our prominent public men.

There is no news in to-day of any importance from Washington or the South.

R.

WE can inform the Post that we decline to republish the Gazette's attack upon our worthy standard bearer, Gov. Curtin, and insist that neither the Union cause nor the Union press, shall be held responsible for the utterances of that sheet. The Post may find a congenial occupation in circulating its slanders.

SOME tell us that it will cost a vast deal of money to preserve our nationality. They are wretches who appeal to considerations so mean and sordid. What would you think of a fellow who should remind you in your sickness that it would be very expensive to save your life? And is the life of the mightiest republic of all time to be more higgled about than the life of an individual?

"All that a man has he will give for his life." All that all men have they should give for their country's life.

THE Richmond Examiner of April 15th, 1861, said: "War will disorganize the industry of the North; it can have little effect upon the industry of the South." Such were the expectations with which the rebels went into this war. All the Southern editors and other politicians assured the people of their section, that war, if it should come, would rage exclusively upon Northern soil, leaving the South wholly unscatched.

Upwards of two years have passed. Now let the people of the South look at their condition and see how wretchedly they were lied to, duped, cheated, humbugged, by their selfish leaders!

At the time the South was threatening us with the vengeance of King Cotton, we were called upon by various public meetings to fall down upon our knees and meekly beg forgiveness from our Southern masters for having exercised our right to elect a President who was opposed on principle to spreading the blight of slavery over territory now free. At one of these meetings Mr. Justice Woodward made a speech which the Post characterizes as an admirably production, and urges us to publish it. Why does not the Post itself publish this admirable production of its candidate. We have heretofore urged it to be consistent and do so; but for ourselves it would be useless, our heart not being in the cause it would be uphill work, to endeavor so convince the American people of the "incalculable blessings" of unpaid labor as inculcated in this "admirable production" of the Post's candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania.

News and Other Items.

EDWARD EVERETT ON UNION OF SENTIMENT.—Hon. Edward Everett, in a recent letter to a Union meeting in Circleville, O., says: "Nothing but union of sentiment and action in the loyal States is now wanting to bring the struggle to an auspicious close; and any result of your election which would weaken the arm of the General Government, when a decisive blow is about to be struck, would be a public calamity."

REPORTED FEDERAL DEFEAT.—A dispatch from Knoxville, dated the 16th inst., slotes that on Wednesday Lieutenant Col. Hays, with three hundred men of the 100th Ohio, were attacked near Tilford, ninety-three miles up the Railroad, by eighteen hundred rebels under Dickson. After fighting gallantly for two hours, our forces, losing heavily in killed and wounded, were finally compelled to surrender to overpowering numbers.

PARSON BROWNLOW receives the following mention from Prentice, of the Louisville Journal: "Brownlow is a pure, brave able, and resolute man, who has endured great suffering and persecutions for his devotion to the Union, and endured it with a heroism not surpassed by that of any political or religious martyr on record. It has sometimes been objected that he is too denunciatory, but if with all his unquestionable talent in that way, he can pour fiercer denunciation upon the rebels and the rebellion than they deserve, his powers of vengeful eloquence are even greater than we have ever thought of them."

THE DEFENCES OF RICHMOND.—A person who left Richmond a few days since, furnishes the Herald with facts relative to the South. He states that but one division of troops has been taken from Lee's army, which latter is located near Hanover about 20,000 being fit for duty. It is understood that if Meade advances Lee will fall back on Richmond, the evacuation of which is not thought of by the rebels. The defences of Richmond are complete. The rebel force in Western Virginia is very small, including Imboden's and Jackson's forces. The rebels have plenty to eat, and the starvation stories are simply absurd.

LATE FROM CHARLESTON.—An informant of the Herald was in Charleston when Gilmore bombarded it. One of the shells struck the spire of St. Michael's Church, and all struck within half a mile of each other. They produced the utmost consternation. The city is nearly deserted now, and the place will hardly be worth surrendering. Beauregard's forces of about 9,000 were swelled to about 10,000 by Jenkins' division of Lee's army. Beauregard lost much of his popularity when our forces captured Morris Island.

VICE PRESIDENT STEPHENS' MISSION.—A correspondent of the Herald has a statement that Vice President Stephens' mission to Washington was to consult with the Federal authorities as to whether satisfactory terms of compromise might be arranged so the Confederacy might be saved the disgrace of inviting foreign aid, said to be an arrangement with France. She is to assist the rebels with her fleets and armies, in exchange for the possession of Texas. It is said that Stephens is now in Paris effecting this arrangement.

FROM THE POTOMAC ARMY.—A dispatch from the army of the Potomac, dated the 20th says seven deserters were shot on the 18th. The Rapidan has risen several feet. There was considerable heavy firing at Raccoon Ford on the 18th. The result is unknown. A dispatch of the 20th says the roads are improving. We have lost in skirmishing in the past week eighty-three men and five officers. The troops are in fine condition. The enemy's left is ascertained to be on Crooked Run. It is said to be definitely ascertained that Ewell's corps has gone to Chattanooga to reinforce Bragg. A lady from Richmond confirms the passage of a large number of troops from Lee's army. Their destination was conceded to be the Southwest.

FOREIGN NEWS.—The steamer Hecla from Liverpool on the 8th and Queenstown on the 9th, arrived in New York yesterday. The London Post believes that there is little doubt that the two suspicious iron rams at Liverpool will be detained by Government under the foreign enlistment act. It is nevertheless contended that they were built to the order of a French house under contract for the late Pasha of Egypt, but the present Pasha repudiated the contract. The accusation is that they are intended for hostilities against a friendly power, and a Court of law must decide upon their detention or release. The Union and Emancipation Society is urging a prompt investigation of the news that the rebel government had resolved to call out negroes. It is received with distrust. Some regard it, if true, as a confession of weakness by the South; others, as a masterly stroke of policy. The Daily News says it will prove conclusively, not only that their cause is hopeless, but that the leaders know it to be so. The Morning Post looks on it as a masterpiece of policy, giving at once immense reinforcements, and exercising an advantageous and moral influence in Europe.

A COMPLIMENT TO PRESIDENT LINCOLN.—The New York Commercial Advertiser says it is a fact well worth knowing that, for the first time in many years, the Congress coming into life in the middle of a Presidential term is, in its political aspect, friendly to the President. For a quarter of a century, if we are not mistaken, an opposition Speaker has been elected in every last Congress of a Presidential term. That the next Congress is not merely Union, but Republican, is a strong testimony to the popular estimate of the fidelity, honesty and patriotism of Abraham Lincoln and his advisers.

The Richmond Dispatch of Thursday has an account of the reported advance of Gen. Meade's army, and says that the Yankees would probably cross the Rappahannock at Kelly's Ford. The same paper has Charleston dispatches to the 14th inst. At that time they say Gilmore was making arrangements to occupy Morris Island permanently, putting up lines of telegraph along the shore, and converting fort Wagner into a powerful work. A dispatch of the 15th inst. says that the Federals are building a telegraph line along the coast from Fort Pulaski and Tybee Island to Cummings' Point. A rebel magazine had exploded on James Island, killing six men.

The New York World says that nature has endowed President Lincoln with a "single great quality"—that he has nothing but a "certain vulgar honesty." According to the etiquette of copperheadism, honesty is the vulgarest thing in the world.

WHEELER & WILSON'S

SEWING MACHINES

AWARDED BY THE

LONDON AND PARIS EXHIBITIONS.

The sale of these Machines is equal to the sale of all others combined, arising from its adaptability to all kinds of Sewing. As proof, read the following from Douglass & Sherwood, the well known Skirt Manufacturers:

"We have used the Wheeler & Wilsen Sewing Machine in our Skirt Manufactory since January 20th, 1855. It has indeed created our business. After testing the principal machies before the public we selected yours. We commenced with one, and are now running one hundred and seventy-two of them. We are running one hundred of your Machines in one room, and yet such is the quietness, that conversation can be carried on in an ordinary tone of voice. They are adapted to every portion of our work; sewing equally well upon the lightest muslin and our heaviest work, consisting of nine thicknesses, five of them being of hair cloth, two of common cotton cloth, and two of starched tape. Its speed is unexampled. With one, a person can accomplish as much as twelve persons without it, and twice as much as by any other machine. One thousands yards of straight seam, ten stitches to the inch, is an ordinary day's work of ten hours. We have run it as high as one hundred and fifty yards per hour. The fatigue is so slight that our employees work the year round, and continue in good health and spirits. We cannot too highly recommend Wheeler & Wilson's Machines, and our opinions are shared by all Manufacturers of experience and judgment, with whom we come in contact."

Also, from the United Presbyterian of Sept. 10:

"After more than one year's experience, we can cordially recommend to our friends Wheeler & Wilson's Sewing Machines as one of the most useful pieces of household furniture with which any house can be supplied. It is the last thing in our domestic institution that we would part with."

Every machine warranted for three years. Call and see them in operation and obtain our descriptive circular.

☞The Excelsior Ominibus Company have Ominibusses and Carriages in waiting for passengers arriving in trains from both East and West.

In Session.—The Courts of Common Pleas, &c., were in session yesterday, but transacted no business of public importance.

Troops Arrived.—A squad of fifty men under command of Colonel Money, arrived in the city last night from Meadville.

Newspaper Postage.—Any number of newspapers can be sent by mail under a two cent stamp, provided they do not exceed four ounces in weight. This fact has not generally been known.

House of Refuge.—The Board of Managers of the House of Refuge will meet this morning at ten o'clock, at the building of the institution. A full attendance of the Board will no doubt be had, as business of an interesting nature will be before the meeting.

Fire.—The alarm of fire yesterday was occasioned by the igniting from a spark of the roof of Dr. George L. McCook's residence, Fifth street, which was extinguished without the assistance of the firemen, who, however, were promptly on the ground. The building is owned by Andrew McMaster, whose loss is very trifling.

Applications for Final Papers.—The following persons have filed their applications with Commissioner Sproul for final papers of naturalization, Richard Flinn, Michael Gallagher, Matthew Rowan, John Boyd, Thomas Dady, Thomas Lally, Michael Lally, Michael Kelly and James Sweeny, from Ireland, and Michael Krempson, a native of Prussia.

Railroad Business.—The amount of business done by the different railroads leading to this city, far exceeds at this time the amount done at the same time last year. The C. & P. R. R. shipped from this city during the month of July, 2,156,550 pounds of coal, and 14,186,354 pounds of other freight. They received during the same month, 739 car loads of stock, 18,826 barrels of flour, and 16,270,048 pounds of other freight. During the present month their business will greatly exceed these figures.

Assault and Battery.—Ald. Taylor yesterday issued a warrant for the arrest of Samuel Kiser and Albert Glenn, on oath of George Jebel, charging them with aggravated assault and battery. The parties were arrested, and after examination were held to bail in the sum of three hundred dollars each for their appearance at the next term of the Criminal Court.

The same officer issued a warrant for the arrest of John Robb, David Robb and Francis Connolly, on oath of Hampton M'Henry, who charged them with having knocked him down, beat, kicked and threatened him with a club. They had an examination, which resulted in their being held in the sum of three hundred dollars each for their appearance at the next term of the Criminal Court.

The Planting Season.—The season for planting trees is rapidly approaching, and we urge our readers to improve it liberally. There is nothing so cheap, so moderate in its demands upon the husbandman, and so rich in its rewards, as the cultivation of fruit trees, plants and vines. In many parts of our county, our people have sadly neglected this important duty, and consequently the result is but very light yields of fruit, making us dependent upon foreign markets for our supply of fruit. Our climate is excellent, none better could be wished, for fruit, and our soil is splendidly adapted to fruit of every kind, and would well repay the careful cultivation of the apple, peach, plum, strawberry, grape, &c. We hope our farmers will see to this matter at once, and enter into it with the proper spirit, and in a few years every farm in the county may be well stocked with choice young and thriving fruit trees.

False Pretenses.—Officer John Herron yesterday morning arrested a young man by the name of Shepley Boston, upon a warrant issued by Alderman Nicholson, for obtaining goods under false pretenses from Lewis Miller, furrier, on Wood street below Fifth. Boston was formerly connected with the theater in the character of property man, and was in the habit of borrowing properties from different parties, always returning the same. He has been discharged from the theater for some time, but on the strength of his former credit, he went to Miller, and borrowed three muffs and four victorines, stating that they were for the theater. He took them to a pawnbroker's establishment and pawned them for $13,00, and being on a spree at the time he soon managed to get rid of the money. He also borrowed a coffee mill from another party, ostensibly for the same purpose, which he also pawned. The pawn tickets were found upon his person, and as yesterday was the last day of grace, the goods having either to be redeemed or forfeited, Mr. Miller paid the requisite amount and took them out of pawn. His guilt being apparent he was held to bail for his appearance at the next term of the criminal court.

Supplies for Wounded.

The following dispatch was received last night. The Army Committee of this city, in anticipation of battles in Rosecrans Department, have, during the past two weeks, forwarded large amounts of stores, but the demand exceeds the supply:

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 21, 1863.—Joseph Albree, Treasurer Christian Commission: Send battle field stores by express to Nashville for the wounded of Rosecrans' army, and a good corps of delegates. Our Field Agent there is very urgent for more men. Make an extra effort. GEO. H. STUART.

Let bountiful supplies of stimulants, brandy, whisky, wines, corn starch, farina, canned fruit, and woolen underclothing be sent to the store room of the Christian Commission, No. 79 Smithfield street, and they will be sent immediately by express. All cash contributions for the purchase of necessary stores, may be sent to Joseph Albree, Treasurer, No. 71 Wood street.

Serious Accident.

Yesterday, a little after twelve o'clock, as a man by the name of McCune was driving a large pair of timber wheels up Wood street, two boys who work at W. & D Rinehart's tobacco factory ran out and climbed up on the axle of the fore wheels. Upon being ordered off, one of them left, but the other, a lad between twelve and thirteen years of age, by the name of Henry Clouse, whose parents reside on East Lane, Allegheny city, run the coupling to the big screw in the hind axle, and laying hold of it, it turned, causing him to fall, striking on his face, terribly lacerating his jaw, injuring his side, and breaking his arm. He was carried home in a great state of suffering. Mr. McCune lives on East Lane also, and was known to the boys, who doubtless thought they could take any liberty they pleased. The utter recklessness of the boys in the city has long been a matter of comment, and it is a wonder that more of them are not killed.

Postal Facilities.

Our readers may be aware that Postmaster Von Bonhorst is about having such arrangements made as will greatly facilitate the delivery of letters and papers throughout the city. He has had manufactured a large number of boxes, which will be placed throughout the more remote thoroughfares of the city, for instance along Contre Avenue, Pennsylvania Avenue, Penn Street, &c. It is thought that those of our citizens residing and doing business in the immediate vicinity of the Post-office will prefer to call at the general office for their favors, so no boxes will be erected in this part of the city. The people residing along the line between Buchanan and Temperanceville post-offices will also be accommodated, and boxes put up for their convenience. In fact, Mr. Von Bonhorst is determined to furnish every postal facility to our citizens that he has authority for doing, and will most probably commence the system on the first of October.

The Philadelphia Dial thus refers to the operation of the system in that city, and compliments Postmaster Walborn for his untiring energy and industry in establishing it:

"The public generally do not appreciate the labors of our public men. Seeming profitable positions are not always sinecures. Few persons have the least idea of the vast amount of mental and physical labor they have to perform. The business of the Custom House, Mint, Postoffice and other public officers, concentrate an amount of labor that would startle any growler were he cognizant of the fact. The head of any one of the departments has to have an eye on all that are under him. The system of business and its routine acknowledges him as the chief motive power. He gives motion to the whole, which cannot be accelerated or retarded without his knowledge.

"Perhaps there is no department more versatile in all its ramifications than that of the Postoffice. To one who is not posted up in its business it may appear simple, but to those who are, the wonder is how its vastness and gigantic operations are so harmoniously conducted. The answer is by reducing all former difficulties, and carelessness in the department to a system. A business man only is capable of making such improvements, and we think Mr. C. A. Walborn has most successfully accomplished it.

"We alluded a few days ago to the fact of our consolidated city being now under one general postal arrangement. There is no other city in the United States, or in Europe, that can boast of having letters delivered free at every citizen's door within the extensive limits of our city proper. And all this too at a time when the public mind is excited, and our National troubles exercising the powers of all who are interested in its final destiny. It goes to show, however, that we have never, nay, not even for a single moment despaired for the fate of our glorious Union!

"The carrying out of this great improvement in the postal business has occupied Mr. Walborn but a few short months. No other Postmaster of our city ever imagined such a scheme, or believed in its practibility. The former independent post offices at Port Richmond, Bridesburg, Frankford, Rising Sun, Germantown, Mount Airy, Chestnut Hill, Andora, Leverington, Manyunk, and Falls of Schulkill, have all succumbed to a practical man's ideas, and are now placed on an equality with the other branch offices, and made subservient to that of the General Post Office in the city. Letter carriers are appointed, and the system of delivery which has been adopted in our large cities is fully carried out in what but a short time ago was called the "rural districts"

"A glance at the extent to which this is carried must convince the most skeptical that Postmaster Walborn's position is not one of sinecureship. Over all he exercises power; and regulates the whole by the business principle of system. Nor has he overlooked those who have fought for the Union, and are incapaciated from military service. In making his appointments for the "rural districts" six soldiers are now engaged, and others will be appointed as opportunities offer where their services can be made available to themselves and the Department.

"To Mr. Walborn, in a measure, are we indebted for the four deliveries of letters a day system, although it was the idea of the Postmaster General to reconstruct the old plan, and ficilitate the general business of such a move. In this he found in Mr. Walborn a most invaluable adjunct, and it is now in full operation, and works most admirably.

"Perhaps in the whole history of our postoffices, from the time of the first Postmaster, Ben. Franklin, has any one accomplished more to further the interest of the Government and exalt the character of the Department than Mr. Walborn. He entered upon the duties of his office in the hour of our country's trouble. He succeeded in having erected the first building in this city expressly for postal purposes. He has exercised such an influence over a large number of men in his employ that has enabled him to carry out all his designs and improvements without falling into those political difficulties which invariably lead to contention and strife."

Timely Suggestions by an Old Citizen.

Our valued contributor, "Leonidas," who is an old and highly respected citizen, sends us the following relative to the blocking up of Penn street by drays, to which we referred the other day:

In passing along Penn street, east of Wayne, one is struck with the confusion doubly confounded, of drays, street cars and other vehicles, vainly urged on by their drivers, and brought to a dead stand for want of system in street arrangements. Wouldn't it be a happy alleviation of this daily recurring nuisance to appropriate Wayne street to drays and wagons connected with the freight business at the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago Railroad depot, and for the same purpose to open and occupy Washington street to accommodate the freighting business of the Pittsburgh and Cleveland and Allegheny Valley Railroad? These companies, the writer ventures to assert, would be ready, whenever the city authorities say so, to remove the canal bridge, no longer required, and to grade and pave Penn and Washington streets at the points adjacent to these several depots.

While the grading of the farther end of Penn Street, in the Ninth ward is in progress, and before the paving is finished, would it not be a saving of money to the city and Gas Company to extend the means for water and gas throughout the same? Of course the water and gas will at some future day be extended to the full length of the city limits; but in doing this, hereafter, the pavement will have to be torn up and the job will not be done as cheaply and as well as if now done.

While preperations are being inaugurated to lay the new tracks, of the Pennsylvania Railroad, south of Liberty street, would it not be worthy of consideration, whether Liberty and Penn streets could not be passed over by a bridge? If this could be accomplished, it would certainly facilitate the transit on both rails and streets, and prevent the accidents which may now occur. It is said that the level of Penn street at the crossing may be reduced six feet—and that the increased elevation gained south of Liberty street would give sufficient altitude for a bridge. The subject posesses interest enough to attract attention from the citizens and railroad companies concerned.

Important to Men on Parole.

Col. Hoffman, Commissary General of Prisoners, has issued the following order from Washington, of which all officers and enlisted men on parole would do well to take heed: All officers and enlisted men now on parole, who are absent from the camps to which they belong, whether with or without authority, will immediately report for exchange at said camps, viz: Those belonging to regiments serving in the Departments of the East, and of the South, the Army of the Potomac, and the 18th Army Corps, at Camp Parole, near Annapolis, Md., or the Convalescent Camp, near Alexandria, Va. Those belonging to regiments serving in the Departments of West Virginia, of the Ohio and of the Cumberland, at Camp Chase, and those belonging to regiments serving in the Departments of the Missouri, of the Tennessee, and of the Gulf, at Benton Barracks, near St. Louis. Disregard of this notice will be treated as desertion. This notice is equivalent to a release from all the penalties of desertion to which men improperly absent from parole camps are subject.

Baptism by Immersion.—On Sunday afternoon the interesting ceremony of baptism by immersion was performed in the Allegheny river, near the outlet of the canal, the parties being three ladies, who gave this public acknowledgement of their faith, and were admitted as members of the Disciples church. Quite a large crowd were in attendance, on the shore, and a number of skiffs were filled with spectators.

Important to Voters—Be Assessed.

It behooves every patriot who desires the suppression of the present infamous rebellion and the perpetuity of the Union, to see that he is properly assessed, in order that his right to vote may not be questioned. The friends of Curtin, Agnew and the Union should bear in mind the fact that after Friday, October 2d, they cannot be assessed, and that being forewarned is forearmed. Call on your respective district Assessors, and see that your elective franchise is all right. The law requires that every application for assessment should be made personally, so that it cannot be legally done by proxy. We call on our Union loving friends to see to this fact, and have every thing relative to their right to vote legally and judicially enacted. For the convenience of our readers we append the following list of the Assessors of the county:

Fight.—A fight occurred yesterday evening at the clothing establishment of a Jew on Liberty Street, near the Eagle Hotel, between the proprietor and a would-be customer from the country. The quarrel commenced about a pair of pantaloons. The Issaelite got his customer down on the floor, and after striking him two or three times in the back, arose, and took to his heels, thinking no doubt that discretion was the better part of valor. The "basted" man walked slowly and sadly away from the scene of his discomfiture.

A Confidence Man.—Mayor Sawyer yesterday received a letter from an Eastern publisher, denouncing a certain named man going about as his agent as an impostor. The alleged impostor's name is Shephard alias Byers, and he makes it a point to obtain passes from the different Railway Companies in the name of the publisher, while he has, in fact, no connection with him. Our Steubenville and Western friends would do well to be on their guard against this fellow's rascality.

Rescued from Disgrace.—Officers Scott and Strain, of Mayor Sawyer's police, last night rescued from a house of ill-repute in the Ninth ward, a young girl, fifteen years of age, a daughter of poor but respectable parents. The complaint was made by her sister. She was taken to the Mayor's office, but as she appeared to be incorrigible, the probabilities are that she will this morning be sent to the House of Refuge.

Held to Bail.—Martin Brawdy. Jr., was last night arrested and taken before Alderman Humbert, charged with keeping a disorderly house near the Point, known as the Duquesne House. He was committed to the watch house, but during the evening bail was entered for his appearance at Court in the sum of $500.

Meeting at the Club Rooms.—A meeting of Union citizens will be held this evening at the Club Rooms, Wilkins Hall, Fourth street, to which the public are cordially invited. Eminent public speakers are invited and expected to be present. Keep the ball rolling, now that it is fairly started. Don't fail to attend headquarters to-night.

Excursion Tickets.—Would it not pay for the Pennsylvania Railroad company to issue excursion tickets to the State fair at Norristown? We think it would, and would suggest the fact to the directors of the company, confident that it will meet with their just consideration.

Distinguished Visitors.—The Kansas-Missouri deputation from St. Louis, Mo., to Washington, will arrive in this city on Friday. On their arrival a meeting will be held at Wilkins Hall, at which addresses will be made by the speakers among the delegation.

"Daily Commercial" Job Printing Office.—Orders for every style of Book and Job printing promptly and neatly executed, from a visiting card up to a mammoth poster. The most rapid and improved steam presses are used in the execution of the work.

Special Musical Notice.—Mr. Edwin Sherratt, professor of music and Bassinia's method of vocal training, would respectfully inform the ladies and gentlemen of the city that a limited number of pupils will be admitted (if application is made at once) into the new class just formed at the Pittsburgh Musical Institute. The exercises will be adapted to the new scholars as well as those more advanced in music. Each class will meet twice a week, the first at 4 P. M., the other at 7½ P. M. Satisfaction guaranteed. Terms moderate.

Amusements.

THEATRE.—A very large and fashionable audience assembled last night to witness the impersonation of Camille, by Miss Herron, and her rendition of the character gave great satisfaction, as it always does. We have no great admiration for the character itself, but as to the manner of its acting by Miss Herron we can but say that it was artistically enacted. Manager Henderson has gotten up some fine scenery for the play, and the appointments are all appropriate and consequently attractive.

CONCERT HALL.—The Morris Minstrels had a crowded and very intelligent audience last night, which, by enthusiastic demonstrations, indicated its delight at the character of the entertainment. We don't remember to have seen an audience so highly pleased by a minstrel performance as that in attendence at Concert Hall last night. A new programme is presented for to-night, and we can assure our readers that it is full of fun, mirth and sentiment.

Grover & Baker's Sewing Machines, for family and manufacturing purposes, are the best in use. A. F. CHATTONY, General Agent. No. 18 Fifth street.

The Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine.—The first premium was awarded to the above by a careful committee on yesterday, composed of the best experts in the State. Considering the very formidable competition, this result is a great triumph. The Wheeler & Wilson Machine is admitted by every housewife who has used it, and every manufacturer of goods, from the heaviest fabrics to the finest cambrics, as the best in use. Time has proven its merits, and trials its usefulness. The machines which were on exhibition were those manufactured by W. Sumner & Co., Cincinnati, Ohio, who own the principal territory of this State, Indiana and Pennsylvania. The explanations of the machine were made by Mr. West, of Dayton, Ohio, a gentleman thoroughly conversant with machinery and a most excellent representative of the Wheeler & Wilson machine. The large number of visitors to the Fair are under obligations to him for his uniform courtesy.—Cleveland Plaindealer. September 17th.

BATTLEFIELD THREE MILES FROM CRAWFISH SPRINGS, GA., Sept. 19, 1863.

This morning, about eleven o'clock, the battle was opened by the advance of Buckner, strengthened by Nickerson's brigade, from Joe Johnston's army. The fight commenced in the vicinity of Widow Glenn's, on the road leading from McLemore's Cave to Chattanooga.

The fierceness of the assault, together with the meagre display of force on our right—which, however, was also attacked by way of diversion—led the General to believe that the enemy contemplated to attract attention on our right, while he hurled an overwhelming force against our left, turning it, and cutting off our communication with Chattanooga.

The rebel programme was fully understood last night, and from dark until daylight troops were continually in motion, being shifted to meet the emergency. The blow fell where it was expected.

The enemy, who anticipated an easy victory, was completely foiled. Instead of the 21st Army Corps, (Crittenden's,) alone, the confident and exulting forces of the enemy, including the choice troops of Longstreet, found the corps of General Thomas, and, in addition, Davis' division, from McCook's corps, drawn up to meet them.

Early in the action the rebels made an impetuous charge on the famous Loomis Battery, and five out of the six guns were captured. Capt. Van Pelt, commanding the battery, was taken prisoner. At 2 o'clock the contest was terrific. The roll of musketry was far more continuous and deafening than at Stono river.

Two o'clock and forty minutes.—The division on the centre being hard pushed was broken, and retired in disorder. Col. Barnett planted his battery and soon checked the pursuing enemy, who, in his turn, was driven in order over the same ground.

Gen. Davis' division was driven back with heavy loss. Every gun of the Eighth Indiana battery was captured, when his forces rallied, pushed the enemy back, and retook the guns.

Gen. Reynolds lost heavily, but stubbornly held his position, driving the enemy, but never leaving his line. General Palmer, who was overwhelmed, failed to get off his whole battery, and two guns were lost. General Vancleve, whilst fighting gallantly, lost ground, and being overpowered, failed to regain his position.

Our lines being pressed severely wavered. The rebels exulting over their apparent success, made the air resound with cheers. They advanced along the whole line, when a withering fire of musketry rolled from right to left, and until five o'clock the fighting was terrific.

The General grew anxious. The wounded poured in, and the rebels steadily moved up near his headquarters. New forces were opposed to them, and from that time till dark the battle raged with destructive fury.

At dusk, the firing having almost ceased, the enemy threw forward fresh troops and again engaged our right. The action became general, and, until long after dark, raged with fury.

The battle thus far is a bloody one, and our loss very heavy, and prisoners say that some of their regiments are almost annihilated. Both armies occupy the same ground as when the action began. We have captured several hundred prisoners, many of whom are from the East. We took ten guns and lost seven.

The list of casualties, as far as I have been able to gather, is

KILLED.

SEVERELY WOUNDED.

Major Alden, 38th Illinois; Major Wall, 25th Illinois; Captain Greenlish, 8th Kansas; Lieutenant T. F. Murdock, of General Vandeveer's Staff; Major McIlnaine, 35th Illinois; Colonel Heg, commanding 3d brigade; Lieutenant Woodbury, 2d Minnesota Battery; Lieutenant Colonel Messer and Lieutenant Rule, 101st Ohio; Captain Cole, 38th Illinois; Lieutenant Chapman, 38th Illinois; Lieutenant Fessenden, Loomis' Battery.

SLIGHTLY WOUNDED.

Captain Hallard, of Palmer's staff; Lieut. Colonel Maxwell, 2d Ohio; Major Carr, 72d Indiana; Captain McIntyre, 72d Indiana; Major J. F. Snyder, 13th Ohio; Capt. Pollard, 38th Illinois; Captain Williams, 35th Illinois; Capt. Jones, 35th Illinois.

The aspect of affairs is cheering. The enemy chose the ground, and has failed in every effert to push us back, with inferior numbers.

We have repulsed every attack, captured ten guns and lost seven, and took a whole regiment of Tennesseeans.

Important Western Items.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 21.—The steamer Marcella was boarded and plundered on the 15th near Dover Landing, Lafayette county. Three soldiers of the Fifth State Militia returning home on furlough were taken two miles out into the woods and shot. The boat was not burned. During the past week about five thousand persons crossed the river at Lexington, mostly refugees from the border counties. Cass county, under Ewing's order, is nearly depopulated. Gen. Hunter has arrived to preside over the commission to investigate the burning of the steamer Ruth.

A Leavenworth special to the Democrat states that a messenger who came into Fort Scott on Wednesday night, reports that Coffee is at Cawshain Prairie with fifteen hundred men. Quantrell had passed Ball's Mills with the most of his command, on his way South, supposed to be going to join Coffee. One company of the 2d Kansas Colored and a company of the 3d Wisconsin cavalry are a few miles from Coffee's rendezvous. Gen. Blunt is on his way up up with a small escort.

A Secret Treaty of Recognition---Occupation of Matamoras.

NEW YORK, September 21.—The World says, editorially, that private advices represent considerable feeling in New Orleans on the intervention question, especially among the French and Creole population. This feeling has been much stimulated by the latest mail from the North. It was known to the French Consul at New Orleans and others that the French had occupied Matamoras with 4,000 or 5,000 men. Within a few days a collision was anticipated between the French and the Federal gunboats at the mouth of the Rio Grande with some matter connected with cotton and Confederate supplies. The feeling in regard to intervention was recently indicated by an advance of five per cent. for Confederate bonds.

Ex-Governor Morenead, of Kentucky, who is now in Paris, it is positively alleged, has written to friends in New York that Napoleon and Jeff. Davis have formed a secret treaty of recognition, through the agency of Slidell.

New York Grain.

Barley and barley malt in demand. Small sales of barley at $1 22@1 28, and malt at $1 45@1 60. Oats firm and in demand at 62@67c for Canada; 67@71c for Western, and 69@73c for State.

The Barley Crop of 1863—The circular of S. R. Ford says: In New York the breadth of ground sown to barley was one-third greater than 1862. The yield is fully equal to last year—the quality better. That portion of the crop harvested early (two-thirds the entire crop) was secured in good condition. The remainder, harvested after heavy rains set in, is considerably stained, but otherwise in good condition, with the exception of one or two counties where it is reported grown. In Illinois and Wisconsin the crop is represented to be about the same as last year in quantity and quality. Canada West has one of the best crops ever grown there. The quantity will exceed that of last year by fifty per cent, and the average quality is very fine. The crop has already begun to move, the receipts at Oswego being quite large and two weeks earlier than last year. In Canada East the crop will exceed that of 1862 by one-eighth to one-fourth in quantity, and the quality is said to be as good, if not better, than last year. The crop of California is large in quantity and fine in quality, but the difference in exchange will prevent any coming to this market unless prices should rule much higher than there is reason to anticipate. The high prices current last year brought out barley from sections not hitherto known as growing barley to any extent. It is estimated that 300,000 bushels were received from Maine alone, which nearly supplied the deficiency caused by the absence of California barley. I have no reliable information as to the crop in Maine this year, but considering the very satisfactory prices obtained last season, it is reasonable to expect that the present crop will be quite as large. The following statement shows the comparative movement of the crops of 1861 and 1862 to this market and Albany. Receipts by railroads are not included, and are not material to the comparison, as the quantity coming forward by rail each year would not vary much:

	Bushels
Received by canal from Sept 1 to close of canal, 1861	1,852,300
Received by canal from May 1 to Sept 1, 1862	373,000
Received coastwise	491,848
Total, 1861-62	2,717,148
Received by canal from Sept 1, 1862, to close of canal	1,917,600
Received by canal from May 1, 1863, to Sept 1	73,700
Received coastwise	337,774
Total, 1862-63	2,328,474
Apparent deficiency	388,674

The stock of malt is considerably larger than at the commencement of the season last year, and the demand less active.

Sugar and Molasses—There have been no sales of any moment, owing to the fact that there is no transportation to the West by way of the river, and no freight room by steamers for the North. Yesterday's sales were at 10½c for good fair sugar, and 35c for good molasses.

Flour—There were sales from first hands to-day of about 1700 bbls in lots from store at $7 50 for fine. $8 50@9 for superfine and $9@10 for extra. Dealers are supplying the retail demand at $8 50@9 for superfine and $9 50@10 for extra.

New York Coffee Market.

Coffee—The market for Brazil has again become active, the demand being chiefly for comsumption, and, as the stock is reduced and holders firm, our quotations are again advanced 1¢ per lb on the week, closing strong at the improvement. For other descriptions there is also a steady, fair demand from the trade at gradually appreciating prices. The sales include 3,020 bags Santos, per Onward, at 28½c; 2,606 do Rio, per Janna Adrianna, 29½c; 2,600 do, per St. Olaf, 29c; 2,750 do, per Dagwa, 21½c in bond; 2,593 do, in lots, 28¼@31c; 450 Santor, 28¼@29½c; 10 Ceylon, 32c; 1,075 Maracaibo, 28@32c; a small lot White do, 35c: 92 Savanilly, 28c, four months; 1,143 mats Java, c35c ash, and 36@36½, discount for cash; 1,300 bags St. Domingo, 24½@25½c; 250 do, Gonaives, 26½c, cash; and 200 Angostura, on terms not made public. The stock of Rio in the country, as made up by Messrs. W. Scott & Son, is 62,129 bays, viz: 54,629 bags here, and 7,500 at Baltimore. At Boston, 200 bags Cape sold at 25½c cash. —N. Y. Price Current.

Memphis Market.—During the past week there has been considerable animation among our grocery merchants, caused by the arrival of a quantity of articles in their line of business. The fruit and vegetable market was overstocked. There were not so many of our "country cousins" in town, and the consequence was that the market, which usually brightens up at their presence, was quite dull. In groceries and provisions there was some movements, but transactions were quite limited. The prospective reopening of trade with the North is creating some animation in business circles, at least so far as "talk" is concerned, but it has produced no perceptible change. Money matters remain about the same. There is little to report in the way of markets here, many of the articles standing at the same figures for weeks at a time. We quote: Cotton—In this staple there is but little doing, and prices are unchanged. Market declining, prices ranging from 40 to 50c.

Michigan Wool Market.

During the past week there has been considerable stir in the markets in the interior, and there is apparently more disposition to buy than at any time during the past two months. Buyers freely offer 62@63, but there is little to be had at those figures, the heavy wool growers still holding off. In taking this course, they are no doubt acting wisely. We are enabled to present the following schedule of prices:

Niles	55@60	Jackson	58@63
Bowagise	58@60	Grass Lake	60@62
Kalamazoo	55@60	Chelsea	58@62½
Battle Creek	58@63	Dexter	58@60
Marshall	55@60	Ann Arbor	60@62
Albion	58@62½	Ypsilanti	56@60
Detroit	55@62

St. Louis Tobacco Market.—Tobacco—Market for the finer grades of leaf firm and active; the lower grades of leaf and lugs dull and drooping. The break at both City and State warehouse consists of 77 hhds, including 1 hhd stems at $1; 1 do scraps at $2 15; 7 do factory lugs at $4 80@5 95; 4 do planters' do at $6 10@8 05; 10 do common shipping leaf at $9 10@13 10; 7 do Mepium do do at $13 60@14 90; 2 do good do do at $16 10@16 50; 6 do medium manufacturing leaf at $15 90@22 75; 1 do good at $35 25; 27 bids rejected.

Harrisburg, Sept. 7, 1863.

GENERAL ORDER No. 46.

Much delay having unavoidably occurred in the payment of the militia called out by the proclamation of the Governor, and by the authority of the President of the United States, dated September 11, 1862, for the reason that the formalities of muster required by the United States regulations had necessarily been omitted in putting them into service; and a form of roll having been approved by the proper Department at Washington as a sufficient voucher at the Treasury for their payment, captains and officers commanding organizations of troops under the said call will immediately make application to this Department, distinctly stating their post office address, that printed blanks of the approved roll and the proper instructions may be at once furnished.

By order of the Governor.

A. L. RUSSELL,
sel1 Adjutant General Pennsylvania.

Believing, however, that FACTS IMPORTANT TO THE HEALTH AND COMFORT OF THE PUBLIC, and which can be VERIFIED AT ANY MOMENT by addressing the parties who vouch for them, ought not to be hid under a bushel, the undersigned publish below a few communications of recent date, to which they invite the attention of the people, and at the same time ESPECIALLY REQUEST all readers who may feel interested in the subject to ADDRESS THE INDIVIDUALS THEMSELVES, and ascertain the correctness of the particulars.

It may be thought, perhaps, that a preparation like HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, which has long been a STANDARD TONIC throughout the WESTERN HEMISPHERE, and is rapidly becoming a staple of trade at the antipopes, speaks for itself in stronger tones than private eulogium can speak for it. This is true; but the phases of disease are almost innumerable, and every day new instances of the success of the Bitters, either as a PREVENTIVE or a CURE, come to the knowledge of the proprietors through the mails. Some of these are of immediate interest to thousands placed in precisely the same circ
